EFFECT ON ERECTILE DYSFUNCTION

EECP® has been shown to improve symptoms of Erectile Dysfunction. Erectile Dysfunction occurs when a man cannot get or keep an erection. The squeezing mechanism of EECP pumps blood into every organ of the body. Our clients have reported an increase in their libido and energy. Clinical data indicates that EECP increases the blood flow to the penis by 200%. Men suffering from erectile dysfunction have reported marked improvement in:

- The forming new collaterals (new arteries) from increased sheer stress of reversed blood flow that positively influences erectile dysfunction
- Their baseline sexual libido as compared to before EECP
- Their sexual endurance and energy
- More durable erection that last much longer
- Their general quality of life due to improved sexual activity
